First Commerce Bank Opens Robbinsville Office

LAKEWOOD, N.J. (May 26, 2016) – First Commerce Bank today announces that it has opened the doors of the bank’s eighth branch located at 1412 Route 130 and Hankins Road in Robbinsville. C. Herbert Schneider, president and CEO, and Angela Farina, executive vice president of retail banking and IT, made the announcement today.

The new office is a natural extension from the bank’s Allentown and Freehold offices, and managing the location are two long time bankers local to the area, Suzanne Lippincott as assistant treasurer and community banking officer and Megan Yaede-German as assistant branch manager. Lippincott has thirty years of banking experience, most recently as a branch manager at the Bank of Princeton, and Yaede-German spent eleven years at 1st Constitution Bank as an assistant branch manager before joining First Commerce.

“After seventeen years of leading First Washington State Bank in Windsor, I am eager to bring hometown banking back to this dynamic and growing area,” Schneider said. Farina adds, “It has always been part of First Commerce Bank’s strategic plan to bring the highest levels of personal service to this area, and we are confident Suzanne and Megan’s considerable experience make them the perfect fit to serve this community.”

First Commerce Bank wishes to invite their neighbors in and around the Robbinsville area to their ribbon cutting and grand opening celebration of their newest location. The festivities will take place on Thursday, June 16 from 5:00 p.m. to 8:00 p.m. at the new Robbinsville office located at 1412 Route 130 and Hankins Road.
